

Investment Option Monitor Report

Report as of May 31, 2023

NEA Member Benefits is pleased to provide you with the following NEA Retirement Monitor Status Report. We provide this report to help you more easily review the performance of the underlying investment options available through the NEA Retirement Program. The information in this report is not intended as investment advice.

NEA Member Benefits established performance criteria to provide an objective means of evaluating the NEA Retirement Program investment options.

One particular criterion is that if the performance of an underlying investment option, over a three-year period, falls below the mid-point ranking when compared to all of the other options in its asset category for three consecutive months, it is placed on monitor status. The investment option remains on monitor status until its three-year performance returns to the upper half of its asset category for three consecutive months.

For example, if a particular option with a strong performance record drops its three-year performance ranking to 51 or higher, out of a total of 100 options in an asset category for three monthly reporting periods, the option would be placed on "monitor status" and remain there until its three-year performance ranking reached 50 or better for at least three monthly reporting periods in a row.

There are investment options available within the NEA Retirement Program which do not have three years of performance information, and therefore do not meet our evaluation criterion. Investment options with less than three years of performance history are listed separately in this report as a way to provide additional information only and should not be considered investment advice.

The fact that an investment option is on monitor status is not necessarily an indication you should make adjustments to your account. Your investment time horizon, risk tolerance and overall investment objectives and goals should be taken into consideration, along with the long-term performance of an investment option.

Funds on Monitor Status

Data on the ranking of NEA Retirement investment options within their asset categories is derived from Morningstar Principia Reporting Service, as of May 31, 2023.

Evaluation Criteria

To assure that the NEA Retirement Programs offer superior quality and value, NEA Member Benefits (NEA MB) developed criteria to evaluate and monitor the performance of existing and new investment options.

The criteria are specifically designed to accomplish the following:

To support recommendations for new investment options for the NEA Retirement Program;

To review, on an ongoing basis, the performance of NEA Retirement Program investment options, as well as investment options of other nationally available variable annuity and mutual fund products that are targeted to the education marketplace; and

To provide a basis for identifying and improving the performance of underperforming NEA Retirement Program investment options and, if necessary, closing these investment options to new contributions.

Criteria

The criteria for evaluating and recommending new investment options are:

- INVESTMENT OPTION PERFORMANCE
- RANGE OF OPTIONS
- FINANCIAL INDUSTRY LEADER

Investment Options Performance

The performance of new and existing investment options will be evaluated and tracked monthly using Morningstar Principia.

Performance Guidelines

Background

The following information is intended to be helpful in understanding how the Evaluation Criteria and Performance Guidelines were developed and how they will be used to identify and measure the performance of new and existing investment options. There are two types of variable annuity investment options. One is an option that has been issued by an insurance company for its own variable annuity product. In almost all instances, this type of option is proprietary to the issuing insurance company, and it is usually managed by the insurance company.

The second type of investment option is a mutual fund that has been adapted to become a variable annuity separate account. As a variable annuity investment option, the "cloned option" may retain the same investment objective or be patterned after the publicly available mutual fund.

Once a mutual fund is adapted as a variable annuity separate account, it can become part of any variable annuity product, assuming the investment company that manages the mutual fund agrees. In other words, one variable annuity investment option might be available through several annuity products. When the investment option is available through several annuity products, the performance record of the option in a particular annuity product will be affected by the fees and expenses of that annuity product and by the timing of when the investment option was included in that annuity product. Another factor impacting performance is the amount of assets under management in the separate account.

For more complete information about the NEA Valuebuilder Variable Annuity TSA, including charges and expenses, you may obtain a prospectus from Security Distributors Inc., One Security Benefit Place, Topeka, Kansas, 66636.

Before investing, please understand that the NEA Valuebuilder Variable Annuity TSA is not insured by the Federal Government or any governmental agency and that investment within this product involves investment risk, including the possible loss of principal.

Past performance does not predict or guarantee how funds will perform in the future. The investment returns and principal value of variable annuities fluctuate with changing market conditions. An investment, when withdrawn, may be worth more or less than its original cost.

The NEA Valuebuilder Variable Annuity TSA is distributed by Security Distributors, Inc. and is issued by Security Benefit Life Insurance Company. Security Distributors, Inc. is a wholly owned subsidiary of Security Benefit Life Insurance Company which is a wholly owned subsidiary of Security Benefit Corporation ("Security Benefit").

The Internal Revenue Code prohibits certain distributions attributable to salary reduction contributions before an individual reaches 59½, separates from service, dies or becomes disabled, or experiences a financial hardship as defined by the code.

The underlying investment options described in this report are only available as investment options in variable annuity contracts issued by life insurance companies. They are NOT offered or made available to the general public directly.

You should carefully consider the investment objectives, risks, and charges and expenses of the mutual funds and variable annuities available under the NEA Retirement Program before investing. You may obtain a prospectus that contains this and other information about the mutual funds and variable annuities by calling our National Service Center at 1-800-NEA-VALU (632-8258). You should read the prospectus carefully before investing. Investing in variable annuities and mutual funds involves risk and there is no guarantee of investment results.

The NEA Retirement Program provides investment products (the "NEA Retirement products") in connection with retirement plans sponsored by school districts and other employers of NEA members and individual retirement accounts established by NEA members. Security Distributors, Inc. and certain of its affiliates (collectively "Security Benefit") make the NEA Retirement products available under this program pursuant to an agreement with NEA's wholly-owned subsidiary, NEA's Member Benefits Corporation ("MBC"). Security Benefit has the exclusive right to offer the NEA Retirement products under the program, and MBC generally may not enter into arrangements with other providers of similar investment programs or otherwise promote to NEA members or their employers any investment products that compete with the NEA Retirement products. MBC promotes the program to NEA members and their employers and provides certain services in connection with the program. Security Benefit pays an annual flat fee to MBC. You may wish to take into account this agreement and arrangement, including any fees paid, when considering and evaluating any communications relating to the NEA Retirement products. NEA and MBC are not affiliated with Security Benefit. Neither NEA nor MBC is a registered broker-dealer. All securities brokerage services are performed exclusively by your sales representative's broker-dealer and not by NEA or MBC.
